The Mystery of Comets' Tails.

The cometary displays of the last two years have excited in an unusual degree the spirit of astronomical speculation as to the causes of comets' tails and their mysterious movements. An English scientist in the Philosophical Magazine propounds a novel theory to explain these phenomena. The forces on which he relies to make out his theory are the force of gravity which urges the comet toward the sun, the expansive force of the sun's heat, and the resistance of an invisible atmosphere surrounding the sun at immense distances. The changes in a comet which give rise to its tail begin with the emission of gas, in the direction determined by the expansive force of the sun's heat acting on the comet. But soon these jets bend round, as if carried back by a strong wind, forming an envelope round the body of the comet and a cone behind it, as would happen to a man dressed in a loose robe and running rapidly against the wind. The jets of gas escaping from the body of the comet and expanding when they leave it are more resisted by the sun's atmosphere than its more solid heat, so that they seem to fall behind it, forming the comet's envelope and conical form behind the head. According to this view the body of the comet is constantly moving through the vapors it throws off, and thus produces the appearance of a tail by leaving each successive part thrown off more and more behind it. After passing its perihelion the comet carries its tail before it instead of behind it, he says, because while moving toward the sun it is perpetually passing from a rarer into a denser medium, while in receding from the sun it is perpetually passing from a denser into a rarer medium.

The fact that the most rapid alteration in the direction of comets' tails necessarily occurs just when the expansive force of the sun's heat is most felt gives plausibility to this hypothesis. There can be little doubt that, as Mr. Huggins observes: "If we could see a great comet during its distant wanderings, when it has put off the gala trappings of perihelion excitement, it would appear as a very sober object, and consist of little more than nucleus alone." The same may perhaps be said of the mysterious wanderer while approaching the sun, but not near enough to undergo vaporization from the solar heat or encounter the denser strata of the invisible solar atmosphere. The recent inquiry of Dr. Siemens into the conservation of solar energy also lends color to the theory that comets when near the sun may encounter a resisting medium, which would account for the phenomena in question as the writer referred to supposes. But astronomers are yet far from solving the old problems of the origin and eccentric behavior of comets' tails. "There seems to be," says Mr. Huggins, "a rapidly growing feeling among physicists that both the self-light of comets and the phenomena of their tails belong to the order of electric phenomena." This view, in order to account for the carrying away of the comet's tail under an electric repulsion exerted by the sun, necessitates the supposition that the sun is strongly electrified, either positively or negatively, and also that, in the changes going on in the comet, the matter thrown off by the nucleus has become strongly electrified in the same way as the sun. Otherwise the attraction on one side of every particle of the comet would be precisely equal—as Herschel points out—to the repulsion on its opposite side, and we should therefore be at a loss to explain the enormous velocity with which the matter of the tail is carried backward, in opposition both to the motion it had as part of the nucleus and to that it acquired in the act of its emission. But while all theories designed to explain cometary phenomena have hitherto fallen short of the mark, they have served to stimulate active investigation, and also to throw important light on the physics of the sun and the diffusion of matter in interstellar space.—N. Y. Herald.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

—Chicago parties have recently purchased 4,500 acres of land in Leon County, Alabama, for thirty cents per acre.

—There were recently shipped at Victoria, B. C., 96,000 cases of canned salmon for England. As each case is worth $5, the value of the trade can readily be understood.

—In the season of 1881-82 more than 3,000,000 trees were planted in Great Britain, out of which number Scotland claims about 2,000,000, England 600,000, Ireland 300,000 and Wales 40,000.

—The length of the submarine cables in the whole world is estimated to be 64,000 miles and their value to be $202,000,000. The length of all the wires in the world would reach forty-eight times around the earth.—N. Y. Herald.

—Mr. William H. Vanderbilt has purchased the dwelling and four acres of ground adjoining the Moravian parsonage at New Dorp, Staten Island, from Mr. William A. Fountain. The property has been given to the Moravian Society, and a new residence will be built on it for Mr. Ostrander, the superintendent of the society. The gifts of the Vanderbilt family to the society amount to nearly $500,000.—N. Y. Herald.

—The Cambria iron-works at Johnstown, Pa., has thirty-five miles of railroad on its property, and employs ten large and ten small locomotive engines for yard service. The 900,000 tons of coal and lime-stone annually used in the manufacture of iron and steel at these works are mined by the company, as well as a part of 400,000 tons of iron ore required by it. The works are valued at $7,000,000, and give employment to nearly 8,000 men.—Chicago Times.

—The number of railroad casualties is really very small, considering. In 1879, nearly forty million passengers were carried an average distance of fifteen miles each in Massachusetts, and seventeen were killed, all in one accident; in 1880, forty-five million passengers were carried, and one—a "charity" passenger on a freight train—was killed; in 1881, nearly fifty million passengers were carried and four were killed. It is the employees who are killed mainly.—N. Y. Post.

—It is claimed that the Qu'Appelle Valley Farming company of Manitoba owns and operates the largest farm in one block in the world. It is ten miles square, and, after deducting the Hudson Bay Company's sections and the school sections, comprises 56,000 acres. The company is bonded to break 4,000 acres a year for five consecutive years, each year placing within their tract fifty tenant families, and spending in operating and improving during the five years $600,000.

—Owing to the terrible forest fires of 1881, which destroyed 8,000 square miles of the best pineries of Michigan, dealers have found it necessary to look in a new direction in order to obtain enough pine lumber to meet the demand. Agents have been looking up the pine lands in Louisiana and Mississippi, and it is said that one of them has negotiated for 1,000,000 acres in the two States named. Prices of timber lands have gone up accordingly, $10 an acre having been offered and refused, where $2 an acre would have been considered a high price a few years since.

JUDGE WHITE, of Pittsburg, has officially decided that the sales or purchases of commodities on margins "are immoral and pernicious."

The Kentucky University has sold "Woodland," which contains about 110 acres, and adjoins Ashland, to the Woodland Park Association, for $40,000.

JUDGE BARR, of the United States district court of Kentucky, intends in a few days to dismiss about two thousand old bankruptcy cases in which the bankrupts have never taken the proper steps to obtain their discharges.

The New York Sun says: Both houses of congress should always be organized and in full existence. Each new congress should assemble and complete its organization when the preceding congress expires. A law should be passed to insure the continuous and organized existence of congress.

The capital invested in railroad building during the last year is estimated at $270,000,000 exclusive of the money expended on roadbeds on which tracks have not yet been laid. Of the 316 roads on which the work was done, 140 are uncompleted. The number of miles of main track laid was 10,821.

The new five cent nickel pieces which are now being coined weigh one millimetre more than the old coins, and are a little larger and thinner. On the face of the new coin is a woman's head surmounted with a fillet, upon which is inscribed the word "Liberty" the whole being surrounded by thirteen stars. The reverse contains a wreath surrounding a Roman numeral representing the denomination of the coin.

The emphatic statement of Senator Beck that he would rather see his boys breaking stone on the highway than seeking clerkships at Washington is worthy of careful consideration by young men who believe the department clerks have a rosy time. Those who have good positions and draw large salaries manage to live well till thrown out of office. Then many of them become a burden to themselves and their friends. They drift into that class of politicians "who have to be taken care of" by the party.

In the Senate of the United State, Saturday, a bill was introduced providing for a commission to consider the subject of railroad transportation. A bill to enlarge the powers and duties of the Department of Agriculture was discussed. In the House, the pension appropriation bill, which aggregates $81,575,000, was discussed in committee of the whole. The bill was amended so as to increase the total to $85,000,000, and to make $50,000 immediately available for the fees and expenses of examining surgeons. Upon the report of the committee to the the House the bill was passed. The fortification bill, appropriating $325,000, was passed, as also was the bill providing for increased pensions to persons who had lost sight or hearing in the service.

The first performance of the much-talked-of dramatic festival, will take place on the 30th of April, when "Julius Caesar" will be presented. During the week there will be rendered "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet," "The Hunchback," "Othello," and "Much Ado About Nothing," with John E. Munday, Lawrence Barrett, John McCullough, Nat Goodwin, Mary Anderson, Clara Morris and Mlle. Rhea, in the leading roles.

The house postal money order bill will be favorably reported by the senate committee.

A Governor Who is Not a Fool.

New York Tribune.

A few days ago Gov. Butler, of Massachusetts, was talking with the editor of a paper that had persistently and bitterly opposed him. Said the ex-widow: "Sir, we have met on many a bloody field, but I believe you never called me a fool in your paper, did you?" "No, General, I never did." "All right, then; if you never called me a fool, I don't care about the rest."

AYER'S PILLS.

A large proportion of the diseases which cause human suffering result from derangement of the stomach, bowels, and liver. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS act directly upon these organs, and are especially designed to cure the diseases caused by their derangement, including Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Dysentery, and a host of other ailments, for all of which they are a safe, sure, prompt, and pleasant remedy. The extensive use of these PILLS by eminent physicians in regular practice, shows unmistakably the estimation in which they are held by the medical profession.

These PILLS are compounded of vegetable substances only, and are absolutely free from calomel or any other injurious ingredient.

A Sufferer from Headache writes:

"AYER'S PILLS are invaluable to me, and are my constant companion. I have been a sufferer from Headache, and your PILLS are the only thing I could look to for relief. One dose will quickly move my bowels and free my head from pain. They are the most effective and the easiest physic I have ever found. It is a pleasure to me to speak in their praise, and I always do so when occasion offers."

W. L. PAGE, of W. L. Page & Bro., Franklin St., Richmond, Va., June 3, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S PILLS in many cases of constipation, and have never known them fail to accomplish the desired result. We constantly keep them on hand at our home, and prize them as a pleasant, safe, and reliable family medicine. FOR RHEUMATISM they are invaluable."

J. T. HARRIS.

Mexico, Texas, June 17, 1882.

The REV. FRANCIS B. HARLOWE, writing from Atlanta, Ga., says: "For some years past I have been subject to constipation, from which, in spite of the use of medicines of various kinds, I suffered increasing inconvenience, until some months ago I began taking AYER'S PILLS. They have entirely corrected the defective habit, and have vastly improved my general health."

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS correct irregularities of the bowels, stimulate the appetite and digestion, and by their prompt and thorough action give tone and vigor to the whole physical economy.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

MONDAY EVE., JANUARY 15, 1883.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

The Judge and jury are, to-day,
Each in respective place,
With sleeves rolled up and tussling with
That blasted turnpike case.
Just what they want to fix is this,
And herein is the hitch,
Whether public road's a road,
Or water ditch's a ditch.

The season of lent begins February 7th.

The river is reported to be gorged by ice above Pomeroy, though it is rising at Wheeling.

There is considerable ice in the river to-day, but it is thin and does not interfere with navigation.

The turnpike case is in progress in the circuit court to-day. The trial is expected to consume several days.

Among several new features lately added to the programme of the Jolly Pathfinders is Smith and Leopold's musical specialties which are novel and entertaining.

Mr. SAMUEL AGNEW, an old resident of Lewis county, lately living at Vanceburg, died on Saturday morning in the 78th year of his age. The community in general mourns the loss of so valued a citizen.

The seventeenth of March, St. Patrick's day, will be duly celebrated by the St. Patrick's Benevolent Society and other Irish associations in the city. Societies from Paris and Cynthiana have been invited and are expected to be present and take part in the celebration.

At the last regular meeting of the Neptune Fire Company the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing six months:

President—H. L. Newell.
Vice President—T. Lowry.
Secretary—James Purnell.
Treasurer—Robert Ficklin, Sr.
Messenger—Thomas Wallace.
Chief of Hose—E. W. Fitzgerald.

JACOB PAUL was arrested at Augusta, on Friday, charged with stealing a horse from Clement Scott, near Aberdeen, the day before. He had an examining trial before Mayor Bradford and pleading guilty was held to appear at the next term of the criminal court in the sum of $200, which he failed to give and was sent to jail.

At the present term of the circuit court two young men were sentenced to confinement in the penitentiary for two years for stealing about $3.50. In Bracken county, Ivan Bowman, for murder, was sentenced for five years. According to this a man's life in Kentucky may be calculated as worth about $3.75. In some localities it may be put down as worth less.

MESSRS. MYALL & RILEY, the well known dealers in agricultural implements, have sold the stock on hand and the good will of the business to Messrs. Wm. W. McIlvaine, Richard Carr and E. T. Reese, who will continue the business at the present place on Second street. Messrs. Myall & Riley's successors are enterprising and intelligent men, who are sure to keep the business up to its present high standing.

Divorces Granted.

In the circuit court Saturday, January 13th, Letitia Glover was granted a divorce from her husband, William Glover, on the grounds of habitual drunkenness and extreme cruelty.

Robert L. Gault was also granted a divorce from his wife, Rhoda J. Gault, on the same day on the grounds of abandonment for one year.

CARD FROM J. M. HAWLEY.

Particulars of the Shooting of Franklin Forman.

FORMAN'S SPRINGS, Jan. 12, 1883.—From hearing so many false rumors I feel it to be my duty, knowing the truth, to ask you to print it.

Christmas day was passing very quietly, many persons coming in and going out, late in the evening and at night. I will give the names of the men as they gathered. About sunset Joseph Mattingly dropped in and was sitting about the store; soon after Braxton Clary came in; about fifteen minutes later Bayless Debell came in. About an hour after dark James Forman and Franklin Forman came in on their way to a party and about ten minutes later John and David Forman arrived. Their first amusement was with paper caps and pistols and then all took a feast of candy and crackers after which they bought among them six or eight packs of fire-crackers. They had a great deal of amusement with them and after that James Forman got hold of a gun sitting in the store and worked with it until he got it in shooting order. He then called for some powder and I set out the can telling them to help themselves and really loaded the gun two or three times.

They were loading with powder and paper altogether and shooting in the air. After a few shots James Forman gave up the gun to Braxton Clary and he was shooting in the air. That was not sport enough, so a proposition was made by some one in the crowd, I can't say who, for one to run and Braxton to shoot at him. The idea of this was to get him out so the gun would kick him. Braxton Clary was hard to agree to it fearing the kick of the gun. First Bayless Debell ran and Clary shot at him lodging the paper wad in his coat tail. But it should be remembered we were all unaware of that until Forman was shot in the leg on the second run. He would not have been shot probably, except that he stumped his toe in the race and lost time. He had about forty feet start of Clary. The wad struck him in the muscle or calf of the leg causing death on the 12th day after it was done. The boys and myself are all deeply sorry and all sincerely regret the thoughtless sport, but there never would be a collision of trains on a railroad if the conductors were aware that a train was meeting them. It is the same in this case, no one apprehended any danger until it was done, and had hundreds of others been there the same would have been the case. We all see errors after they have been committed. Some persons have told that the boys were drinking, others only supposed they were. As to any one of them being in the least intoxicated, I will say if they were I do not know when a man is intoxicated for I could not see any difference in them that night from what they usually were. But I really believe some two of the crowd had a drink of spirits shortly before coming in the store early in the evening. The trouble took place half past ten o'clock. I am well satisfied in my own mind that neither Clary nor Thomas had a drop of liquor that evening, shortly before coming to the store or after getting there, for I know of no opportunity they had to drink anything. I hope those persons who have been interesting themselves in circulating these rumors, when they really know nothing, will hold their peace and let the reflections of the boys be their punishment. Had it happened somewhere else it would not have been such a crime. God be with the dead and peace and harmony among the living.

The wealthiest London-Americans are believed to be Mr. Winans, Sir Curtis Lampson, Mr. Junius Morgan, and Mr. Russell Sturgis, who has just retired from Baring's.

A porcelain maker of Kiyoto, in Japan, who studied photography in Paris, has succeeded in making photographs in colors on porcelain, with a perfect perspective.

It struck a Colorado Springs correspondent of the Springfield Republican as a little singular that the man who described the place as a "paradise for invalids" was making a living by burying the invalids who died there.

Mr. Mayer has laid before the French Academy of Science a new mode of burial, viz., glass coffins, the air pumped out, and filled with antiseptic gas. Thus, he claims, the body could be indefinitely kept uncorrupted.

A subterranean telegraph wire is being laid between Paris and Marseilles. Nearly three hundred workmen are employed on the undertaking, which will cost $8,000,000. The wire is to be connected with the Atlantic and Mediterranean cables.

The other evening in the Reichsallen theatre, in Berlin, a sort of music hall, the eldest of three young French acrobats, named Forbée, suddenly expired on the stage, having exerted himself too violently during his gymnastic performance.

Since July, 1856, there have been forty-nine fatal accidents among Alpine climbers. Mr. C. E. Matthews late of the Alpine Club, says that there is scarcely one of the number which might not have been prevented by proper care and caution.

The Academy of Sciences decides that raw meat is easier of digestion than that which is cooked. In prescribing it preference should be given to flesh that has been frozen, as very low temperatures destroy the eggs of the many parasites which often infest meats of all kinds.

Odds and Ends.

Russia has thirty-three schools in which to educate men to manage and operate railways.

A Missonri quack not only promises to cure nasal catarrh at one setting, but makes the astounding statement that he will "remove the catarrh and place it in a saucer."

Numbers of those English landholders whose generosity in returning percentages of rents is paraded do so simply because their tenants would otherwise throw up their farms.

The use of artificial leather is now suggested for huggy tops, and for upholstering purposes where leather is now used. The new material has the alleged advantage of being much more impervious to water than the genuine or natural article, while it is found to wear longer and looks better.

A philanthropic quack has just died in Cincinnati. He was an educated physician named Kerr, but his only medicine was a cure-all which he called "the Renovator." He made it in vast quantities, but only sold enough to afford him a bare living giving the most of it away to the poor. It is said to have been a harmless and beneficial tonic, and did injury only when relied upon in dangerous diseases.

Wagner, the composer, as is well known, ran away with the wife of Hans von Bulow, the eminent pianist, with whom he was then on terms of intimate friendship. Von Bulow's wife and his two daughters now live with Wagner, as though legitimately the latter's wife and daughters. This singular arrangement does not seem to cause much difficulty or dissension in the respective families, and it is reported that Von Bulow's mother, who is very wealthy, has just made a will bequeathing 550,000 marks (about $120,000) to each of the granddaughters whom Wagner has cared for.

Redeemed from Death.

This story is authentic. It is found in the memories of a Prussian officer of distinction, who gives a simple, unaffected narrative of the scene and events through which he passed, and who betrays nowhere the least disposition to exaggerate. The following remarkable incident he gives as it came under his own observation. He was at the time on the staff of General Winterfield, one of the most skilled and competent Captains of the day, and Winterfield was the General in command at the time spoken of. Two soldiers had been condemned to death. In a drunken condition at night they had assaulted an officer of the line, and one of them had drawn a knife upon him but which one could not be told. The officer had seen the knife, but he could not positively say which of the twain held it. And the men themselves did not know. Neither of them remembered anything about it. So both of them were condemned to be shot. They were excellent soldiers, and only one had been guilty of using a weapon. The officers of the division, including him who had been assaulted, asked that they might be pardoned. At length Winterfield said he would pardon one of them. Only one had held a knife, and only that one ought to die. He would pardon one, and the men must themselves decide which of them should be shot. How should the decision be made? Let us shew the dice," said one of the condemned. And the other agreed to it. And anon it was agreed to by all interested. The two men took their places by the side of a big drum, and were to throw the dice upon its head. Two dice were given them and a proper box for shaking. The first man threw two sixes. He groaned in agony. He felt that he had consigned his comrade to death. But when the second came to throw he also threw two sixes. "Wonderful!" cried lookers on. They were ordered to shake and throw again. This time the second man threw first—two aces. "Ho! Good! You will live, Peter." But when Peter came to throw, the dice presented the same two aces. And now the beholders were wonder-stricken, indeed. Another throw was ordered and Peter threw a five and a deuce. The other threw five—deuce. After the excitement had again subsided the men shook once more. The first threw two fours. "Oh! now, throw five and save yourself, Peter." Peter threw—two fours. At this point the Colonel ordered them to stop. He went and reported the marvelous result to Winterfield. Said he: "Clearly, General, Providence will have those two men to be saved," and saved they were. The General dared not oppose the wonderful fate of the dice. It did seem providential and so he accepted it. And the redeemed soldiers lived to prove that the saving fate had given back to Prussia two of the very best and bravest of her sons.—Belfast Examiner.

What is Cruelty to a Cat?

The trial of Hugh Devlin for cruelty to a cat called forth interesting medical testimony at Providence recently. Devlin had confessed that, having been annoyed by a huge tom-cat, he had chucked it alive under the ground, not wantonly, but because he thought it was the safest and most merciful way to take the animal's nine lives. The agent of the Humane Society contended that Devlin had done a cruel, wanton deed, but physicians testified for the defense that death by suffocation under ground was for any animal as easy and painless as death by drowning. The popular horror of being buried alive had its origin, not in experience, but in the imagination, which pictured such a fate as terrible. Whatever Devlin's intent, he had caused the cat no more death agony than if he had followed the orthodox method and drowned it. Possibly, said one physician, the cat lived longer by three respirations than it would have done under water. Devlin was found not guilty of cruelty to a cat.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.
